

Black Rose Assembly (17th November, 2017) : a pledge against the deteriorating air quality.

Is this the air we want to breathe? Is this what our childhood should suffer from?

The answer certainly is NO.

'My Right To Breathe'

'To breathe we do not only need air and lungs but also freedom'. Yes, we need freedom to breathe in clean air and not the air laden with pollutants.

In the recent past we have witnessed the hazardous effects of unhealthy air. The worst of all was keeping children inside their homes, taking away their right to go to school and be child-like, which is to play freely and to be able to run around in the open.

All the children of classes III, IV & V created a black coloured rose. The colour black symbolises the grim state of things and at TSRS, it is our constant endeavour to be sensitive to the environment around us and do our best to protect it.

The children held up these roses with a passionate pledge 'IT IS MY RIGHT TO BREATHE, STOP AIR POLLUTION'.

We hope that the big voices of our young children will help recreate our future.
